

Leonie was a Registered Nurse when introduced to the ACN business in May 2005. However it was her husband Ray Costar, a Sports Coordinator and teacher at a private school in Adelaide, who was approached by a very successful Adelaide businessman and friend with the opportunity. Ray and Leonie immediately saw a way for Leonie to retire from night duty and spend more time with her ailing mother, and Ray to semi-retire from teaching.

After less than a week in the business Leonie seized the opportunity to attend one of the first Australian International training events at Coolum on the Sunshine Coast and then with Ray and son Adrian at the first International Conference in Sydney in September 2005. These experiences were invaluable and created massive momentum in their business. They were convinced of the credibility of the company and the integrity of the co-founders and leaders within ACN.

Sadly Ray passed away suddenly in February this year and Leonie's mother in September. Adrian joined his business and together they formed the Costar Limited partnership.

Adrian is a scientist and is currently pursuing his career in geophysics and hydrogeology. His career and studies have taken him around Australia and the world. Adrian didn't become a scientist to become wealthy however when security of a career was in jeopardy after a great deal of sacrifice and hard work he thought that there must be a better way. Since starting ACN Adrian has developed into a wonderful leader and mentor of people.

Leonie and Adrian are excited by the business opportunity, the integrity of the founders and are dedicated to helping others achieve amazing levels of personal and financial success to recapture and fulfill dreams in others.
