

Introducing David Story

After Graduating from University of South Australia in 1998 as a Graphic Designer. With much energy David pursued his personal, career, and entrepreneurial aspirations. He started a family with his wife Bianca, and they now have two beautiful children, and live near the beach in South Australia.

In February 2005 David took some time out from his own full time Graphic Design business to attend a Personal Development Workshop. It was at this workshop that he was first introduced to ACN. David saw an opportunity to free himself from his 7 days per week work, and to spend the time he desired with his loving family.

During the following months David's Global business was established and his life was transformed.

" for me, the ability to help people within our own communities, share in the wealth of deregulation makes a lot of sense "

David is now an Team Coordinator with ACN and loves working with a company that has such integrity and awesome vision. Very excited about the future of his business in Australia and beyond, David is dedicated to helping others achieve amazing levels of personal and financial success, as part of the Global expansion now being experienced particularly throughout the Asia Pacific.
