

Julie is a single parent with two children. She spent 23 years working for the State Government in Western Australia in a variety of roles beginning as a primary school teacher with her final position as a senior Manager with the Department of Justice. As part of her role in the Department of Justice she represented Western Australia on 2 national committees. This led to working very long hours and regular interstate travel taking her away from her family.

When Julie was introduced to the acn opportunity by the neighbour of a friend she immediately saw an opportunity to achieve some of her dreams. Her initial goals were quite small; to work part-time rather than fulltime, to have more quality time with her rapidly growing up children; to take her children overseas and some additional income to help pay property investment interest costs.

Julie was able to take her children overseas after just seven months in the business traveling to California to an ACN convention and taking her children to Disneyland, Universal Studios and Newport Beach.

After 12 months and three days she resigned from the Western Australian Public Service and now builds her rapidly growing acn business fulltime from home. For the first time ever she is able to collect her children from school and attend all their important events.

Julie attributes her success in acn to having a very compelling and urgent “Why” and the support of people who had much more belief in her ability to succeed than she had herself. As her children were growing up she knew she had to make important changes in her life very quickly and recognized acn as the perfect vehicle to achieve her goals.
