

Hi my name is Kim Torrent; I am a Mum of two awesome young adults, an accountant and a Team Co-ordinator for ACN.

Just over three years ago I was introduced to ACN by a good friend of mine that pretty much had to drag me to a presentation. I am so glad she made me have a look.

I understood what this business was all about within 10 minutes of the overview and looked like such a no brainer that I was one of those guests in the room that just wanted the speaker to stop talking so I could start building my business.

I was born in England but have lived most of my life in Perth Western Australia. I married and have two beautiful children, aged now 15 and 19, boy and girl respectfully.

Nine years ago I became a statistic and found myself on my own as a single mum, and made a decision to go back to school and get an education that would, I thought give me my financial freedom I was after.

Four years later I became an accountant and started working for a reputable firm in the CBD. I found this transition really hard trying to be there for my children and be a career woman. I soon realised that I couldn't be good at both, and since the job wasn't all I was lead to believe it would be and I had had my children longer I decided that the kids needed me more, and I needed them more than any job.

When I saw this business I started straight away and built it quite fast. I then had some disappointments and people I had become quite fond of, friends of mine that had joined the business, quit, but I never used that as an excuse to quit myself, instead it became a reason to keep going. I am not a superstar at ACN but I am good at following the system and I am a perfect result of as long as you stay plugged in and are coachable you will succeed.

Over the last three years I have grown into a leader within ACN with the encouragement, training and mentoring within ACN. People pay a lot of money for coaching outside of ACN, and yet we receive the same and most of the time better life skills, people skills, management skills, and goal setting all for a cost of zero dollars. For that alone this business is a reason to be in it.

My goal within ACN is to become an international speaker worldwide and to pass on and teach to those that want to learn the skills I have learned.

It's a very exciting future we have and I hope I can be inspirational to those around me to help them on their journey in life.
